Mild/Moderate

- ◆ Student needs are often characterized by underachievement, lack of social competence, impulsivity, distractibility, and inattentiveness
- ◆ Services are delivered primarily in the general education classroom
- ◆ Most students are earning a diploma

Moderate/Severe

- ◆ Student needs are often characterized as more significant (including adults with disabilities)
- ◆ This requires specialized support to address unique learning needs in general education, special classes, and the community
- ◆ Curriculum addresses academic, social, functional, or vocational needs
